Opening the Lines of Communication

Over the last two years, Division staff has been working hard to build partnerships and improve two-way communication with all stakeholders, including the citizens of Iowa. As part of these efforts, the Division has joined a number of associations who have been valuable partners over the years including the Iowa League of Cities and the Iowa Wine Growers Association. Membership in these organizations has opened the lines of communication and various doors for new opportunities.

As a state agency, the Division's main mission is to serve the people of Iowa. During the past legislative session, a couple of alcohol related bills were introduced as the result of citizen concerns and actions. It is the role of the Division to provide credible and unbiased information to lawmakers as they form opinions and weigh the pros and cons of any alcohol-related initiative.

This year, a bill was drafted in order to allow Iowa retailers to participate in a manufacturing process known as rectifying or infusing. While the bill did not succeed in 2012, it is sure to come up in future legislative sessions. Before that happens, however, I believe it is vital to bring all interested parties to the table for a thoughtful discussion. I plan to hold a forum later this year to do just that.

Stakeholders will be able to weigh potential benefits against the possible negative impact to existing Iowa businesses and the three-tier distribution model. Regardless of the end result, it is imperative that any legislation that passes is clear in its intent and can be reasonably and fairly regulated.

The second alcohol-related issue that came up during this year was alcohol outlet density, specifically in the largest Iowa cities. An amendment was proposed

DIVISION'S IOWA MEMBERSHIPS

Iowa Grocers Industry
Association

Iowa Restaurant Association

Iowa Wholesaler Beer
Distributors Association

Iowa Wine Growers Association

Petroleum Marketers & Convenience Stores of Iowa

that would allow councils of cities over a certain population to deny a new off-premises retail alcohol license if they have deemed there is a “liquor license density problem” in the area. The option for denial would have only been for new applicants under four thousand square feet or if the location also sold gasoline. The amendment did not get introduced during this legislative session.

Again, I believe it is important to bring together stakeholders for an in-depth dialogue on the topic including problems, desired outcomes and potential solutions. The Division will be organizing a public forum or meeting later this year to cover the issue of alcohol outlet density. Information regarding other resources available to cities such as zoning will also be included.

Lastly, the Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Commission, the Division’s five-member board, will be holding a one-day forum to discuss the role of the three-tier alcohol distribution system. The different roles of the federal, state and local governments will be covered. Sessions will consider the three-tier system’s balance between economic development, tax collection and social responsibility.

Please watch ABD publications and IowaABD.com in the coming months for more detailed information on these forums and other emerging issues. As I mentioned above, I believe in open lines of communication, so email me anytime if you have questions, concerns or suggestions on these or other alcohol-related topics.

Sincerely,

Stephen Larson

IOWA'S ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE LAWS & YOU

This manual was developed to provide licensees, and their employees and agents, with the information needed to protect the welfare and safety of Iowans through compliance with laws addressing the manufacture, distribution and sale of alcoholic beverages.

All retail licensees should have received a print copy of the manual. Iowa's Alcoholic Beverages Laws and You is also available for free downloading and printing at IowaABD.com. Additional printed copies can be ordered for $5 each by contacting Shannon Pogones at Pogones@IowaABD.com.

SAFE Summer FUN

The Iowa Governor's Traffic Safety Bureau and the Iowa ABD would like to invite you to join us in promoting traffic safety. Nearly 23 percent of traffic fatalities last year in Iowa were attributed to drivers impaired on alcohol or other drugs.

Impaired driving crashes are preventable. Great concepts such as Designated Drivers and Call a Cab programs are innovative approaches to solving this nationwide tragedy. The best defense against a drunk driver is to always buckle up. Also remember that it is illegal to text while driving. Please help in our quest to protect all Iowans from impaired drivers during the upcoming summer season. Holiday planners for Memorial Day weekend and Independence Day are available at TrafficSafetyMarketing.gov.

More information such as printed materials and DVDs are available. Visit IowaGTSB.org or these other impaired driving information websites: NHTSA.gov, StopDruggedDriving.org and StopImpairedDriving.org.

Tequila's Rising Sun

WHILE THE MARGARITA CONTINUES TO DRIVE TEQUILA CONSUMPTION, THERE IS MUCH MORE TO THE CATEGORY, WITH NEW PRODUCTS AND PRESTIGIOUS UPSCALE EXPRESSIONS BRIGHTENING THE MARKET.

BY KATE STRANDNESS

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from the May/June 2011 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

“Tequila continues to grow in the United States and across the globe as more people come to discover that it’s truly a sophisticated, flavorful spirit,” says

Jennifer Long, Patrón brand director for The Patrón Spirits Company.

Since hit with an agave shortage a decade ago, tequila sales have surged in the United States, growing 76.2 percent in the last nine years according to the Beverage Information Group’s 2011 Handbook Advance. Granted that tequila’s growth rate may have slowed in recent years as a result of the recession and adjusted consumer spending habits, but those are not stopping or slowing the changes, introductions, and developments within the marketplace. Clearly, the appeal of tequila to U.S. consumers continues to include the many iterations of the margarita; however, there is much more to it than that, particularly in a category that keeps offering new prestigious products with heady price points.

“The superpremium tequila category is experiencing impressive growth trends today,” says Alain Barbet, president of Palm Bay Spirits, which imports 901 Silver Tequila to the United States. So are blancos [silvers or whites]—at least in the United States—as consumers discover their versatility as a mixer.

Bullish on Irish

GROWTH CONTINUES UNABATED AS MAJOR PLAYERS INVEST IN THE CATEGORY.

BY TOM STRENK

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from the January/February 2012 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

Irish whiskey continues its phenomenal streak of double-digit growth. For the most recent full-year statistics (2010), there was a whopping 20.9 percent increase in Irish whiskey sales volume in the United States, according to the Beverage Information Group. In addition, there was a 29.8 percent jump in revenues for Irish whiskey during that same period of time, according to the Distilled Spirits Council of the United States.

Several years ago, when the Irish phenomenon first appeared on the radar, those prodigious increases were usually qualified with the phrase “albeit from a small base.” But after five years of year over year development, that base is a lot bigger. In fact, some industry authorities say the fastest-growing spirit has a role in driving overall industry growth. Certainly Irish whiskey has stimulated the thirst of consumers and increasing investments by the major players. New products, ownership changes, and seductive marketing have made the emergent category as exciting as an Irish reel.

Virtually everyone is bullish on the potential of Irish spirits. The category is in its “infancy with much potential upside,” posits Wayne Hartunian, vice president of whiskies and cognac at Pernod Ricard USA. He notes that Irish whiskey seems to be resilient to economic swings, performing well even during tough recession years.

John Cashman, global brand ambassador for Cooley Distillery, believes that premiumization is going to come back, especially for Irish whiskey, where there is a lot of room for consumers to trade up. The company is prepared with whiskeys ranging in price from an affordable $20 all the way up to a superpremium $180. “People have a little more money now, and they are willing to spend it on brands that they can stand over,” asserts Cashman.

The category has a good reputation and lots of potential to grow, affirms Shane Hoyne, Tullamore Dew global brand director. “In a spirits industry that hasn’t been defined by its dynamism over the past few years, I think people are genuinely looking to see what Irish does over the next decade.”

Out with the Old, In with the New

Story by Erin Fitzgerald. Photos by Shannon Pogones.

Out with the old and in with the new...sort of. Thanks to new owners, Joe and Nicole Romare, Whiskey River in Ames is back and ready for action. While the place is in tiptop shape now, the Romares had to go through an extensive renovation but also kept the place true to its original roots.

Whiskey River first opened in the 1970's and has been a staple in the Ames community ever since. After closing its doors in 2010 due to the building's unsafe conditions, it has been brought back to life with an updated décor and a familiar atmosphere.

The renovation took a year and a half to complete and was no small feat; the inside and outside both needed a major face-lift. The exterior renovation focused on the front façade, restoring it back to its historic origin. Some of the work included the installation of brick kick plates, aluminum framing and new double hung windows in the original window openings. The entrance to the building was also restored along with a new back wall that features a large garage door that opens during business hours to create a patio atmosphere.

For the inside renovations, the Romares had to make some tough decisions. While they wanted to retain the ambiance and character of the original Whiskey River, the state of the building did not allow it. The interior had to be stripped down, losing some items the owners wanted to keep such as the tin along with the diverse crowd the Romares want to attract. Mixing exposed brick with green paint and modern wallpaper allowed the atmosphere to remain casual. When Iowa State alumni walk in, they may not recognize the new Whiskey River, but with familiar decorations like the iconic red bathtub, they will still feel right at home.

“We are an everybody’s bar,” Nicole Romare said. And that they are! People young and old, local or visitor, student or professional, can enjoy the experience at Whiskey River. With over 150 liquors (including a bottle of Louis XIII) and roughly 65 beers, they have something for everybody.

But don’t forget to eat! The menu offers an interesting (and delicious) mix of food with some options you wouldn’t expect, such as the mac and cheese dog and reuben egg rolls. Some top selling items include the cowboy burger (burger topped with pepper jack cheese, bacon, onion rings and a secret BBQ sauce) and the homemade breaded tenderloin. All of the food is made from fresh ingredients and homemade, never frozen.

Whiskey River offers Taco Tuesdays and brunch on Sundays with a Bloody Mary bar. You can make your own Bloody Mary anyway you like it with over 25 toppings to choose from. With a friendly staff, delicious food and a new look, don’t forget to stop in and enjoy everything the new and improved Whiskey River has to offer.

ceiling. With creative designing, they were able to keep parts of the tin ceiling and get a whole new kitchen, new bathrooms and new décor with some original elements.

The inside of Whiskey River gives off an eclectic feel that goes

Tequila Herradura partnered with NFL Hall of Famer Emmitt Smith . . . [and] Beam Global's Tres Generaciones recently announced a partnership with Oscar de la Hoya, who—like Smith—was already passionate about tequila. “It’s the marriage of two like-minded brands who will work together now and in the future to celebrate and promote tequila and boxing,” says Bill Newlands, President, North America for Beam Global Spirits and Wine.

In an effort to grow their shares within the tequila market, brands are stepping into the sports arena. Baseball, basketball, NASCAR—you name it, and there’s a tequila partner.

Education goes a long way with all of these brand changes and developments. “People are becoming more educated about tequila as a whole,” says David Page, PR manager for Herradura. It’s all about disseminating the information to the consumer and sharing details at a more intimate level. Think tastings, food pairings at special events, and social media, especially Facebook’s ever-growing presence among brands and retailers.

“Consumers continue to educate themselves and realize that tequila is one of the most complex spirits—if not the most complex spirit—in the world,” says Ami-Lynn Bakshi, vice president Jose Cuervo marketing, Diageo. “Also, consumers are further exploring and learning what to do with tequila at home beyond margaritas, both with cocktails and also by pairing it with food, as is done in Mexico.”

Beyond exploration, that also means more developments and innovation among existing brands while new labels continue to work their way into the picture. As David Page puts it, “There’s a little bit of something in the tequila spirit category for everybody.”

In an effort to grow their shares within the tequila market, brands are stepping into the sports arena. Baseball, basketball, NASCAR—you name it, and there’s a tequila partner.

CREATE YOUR OWN TEQUILA COCKTAILS

Take advantage of tequila’s versatility and mixability and create your own signature cocktails by mixing white (also called blanco or silver), gold, or aged (also called añejo) tequila with your favorite fruit juices, carbonated beverages, and other spirits and liqueurs. Here are some basic recipes to get you started.

Basic Tequila Sunrise

Serve in a chilled Collins glass over fresh ice.

*1½-2 ounces white, gold, or aged tequila
¾-1 cup freshly squeezed orange juice or orange-flavored fruit drink
1½-2 ounces grenadine syrup
Orange slice or other complementary fruit garnish
Maraschino cherry*

Combine the tequila and juice in either a mixing glass or a shaker; stir or shake until mixed. Pour the mixed drink over the fresh ice in the prepared serving glass. Slowly add the grenadine; do not stir—let the grenadine settle to the bottom. Garnish with the fruit and cherry.

Basic Tequila Sunset

Serve in a chilled Collins glass over fresh ice.

*1½-2 ounces white, gold, or aged tequila
¼ ounce freshly squeezed lime juice
Freshly squeezed orange juice or orange-flavored fruit drink
1½-2 ounces blackberry-flavored brandy or cognac
Lime slice or other complementary fruit garnish*

Combine the tequila and lime juice in either a mixing glass or a shaker; stir or shake until mixed, and pour over the fresh ice in the prepared serving glass. Add enough orange juice or orange-flavored fruit drink to fill the glass. Slowly add the brandy; do not stir—let the brandy settle to the bottom. Garnish with the fruit.

Basic Tequila Martini

Serve in a chilled martini glass.

*3-3½ ounces white, gold, or aged tequila
1-1½ ounces freshly squeezed lime juice
½-1 ounce triple sec or other orange-flavored liqueur
Lime wedge*

Combine the tequila, lime juice, and triple sec in a shaker half-filled with fresh cracked ice; shake vigorously. Strain the mixed drink into the prepared serving glass. Garnish with the lime wedge.

Basic Bloody Maria

Serve in a chilled Collins glass.

*4-6 ounces tomato juice or tomato-flavored drink
2-3 ounces white, gold, or aged tequila
1-1½ teaspoons freshly squeezed lemon juice
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Several dashes of Tabasco sauce
1 teaspoon freshly grated horseradish squeezed dry, if desired
Pinch of white or black pepper
1-2 pinches of celery salt
½-1 teaspoon dried or fresh chopped dill
Celery stalk with leaves
Lime wedge*

Combine all of the ingredients except the celery stalk and lime wedge in a shaker with ice; shake gently. Pour (strain, if desired) the mixed drink into the prepared serving glass; garnish with the celery stalk and lime wedge.

Basic Coco Loco (Crazy Coconut)

Try serving this drink in the coconut shell with a straw.

*1 coconut
Fresh cracked ice
1-1½ ounces white, gold, or aged tequila
1-1½ ounces gin or flavored gin
1-1½ ounces rum
1-1½ ounces pineapple juice
Sugar syrup
½ fresh lime

IOWA PROGRAM FOR ALCOHOL COMPLIANCE TRAINING

Why should you participate in I-PACT?

The overall goal of I-PACT is increased voluntary compliance with the state's alcohol laws through education and enforcement. The core objective of the program is to prevent illegal sales of alcohol by educating alcohol sellers and increasing awareness of changes in Iowa's liquor laws.

What will you learn from I-PACT?

The content focuses on key identifying elements of the latest format of Iowa driver's licenses, but also includes information on the previous version of licenses and identification cards. I-PACT covers the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act (Iowa Code chapter 123), valid forms of identification, and how to spot altered and fake IDs. The program focuses on preventing underage sales and sales to intoxicated patrons. Participants will learn techniques for refusing the sale of alcohol with minimal confrontation and how to legally confiscate an altered or fake ID. The training also includes regulations and tips for offsite delivery of alcohol.

Who should take the I-PACT?

All individuals who sell alcohol for on- or off-premises consumption, as well as holders of retail alcohol licenses should take the training. However, anyone who is interested may take the training.

MAKE A PACT

The program asks that a PACT is made by:

- Iowa kids not to consume alcohol products.
- Iowa retailers not to sell alcohol to minors.
- Iowa licensees not to serve alcohol to patrons under 21.
- Iowa's law enforcement to enforce alcohol laws.

CERTIFICATION

After successfully passing the final test, participants will receive a printable certificate of completion. The certification is valid for a period of two years. However, if an individual is cited for a sale-to-minor, the certification is revoked. The training may be taken again for recertification.

SIGN UP

I-PACT is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, at I-PACT.com or through the ABD's website at IowaABD.com.

Civil & Criminal Penalties

Violations for illegal sales of alcohol to minors include a $500 criminal fine to the clerk, as well as a $500 civil fine to the retail establishment for the first violation. Subsequent violations can result in higher fines, license suspension or even revocation.

AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

Establishments that choose to participate in the I-PACT training are granted an affirmative defense, which may be used once in a four-year period. A business may avoid civil prosecution if an alcohol sale-to-minor violation occurs in their establishment. In order for the business to take advantage of the affirmative defense, the employee guilty of the violation must have been I-PACT certified prior to the time the offense occurred. However, the affirmative defense cannot be used if the employee sold to a minor under the age of 18. Only the business is eligible to avoid a civil penalty; the guilty employee will still be subject to a fine and their I-PACT certification will be revoked.

LEGALLY SPEAKING

HANDS ARE TIED ON TIE-IN SALES

In a competitive market, the significance of marketing alcoholic beverages (liquor, beer or wine) in unique ways is enticing. However, as valuable as marketing can be, industry members should be aware of marketing practices which are illegal when selling alcoholic beverages to retailers. In particular, industry members should be aware that tie-in sales of alcoholic beverages to retailers are considered an unlawful trade practice. A recent Industry Circular issued by the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax and Trade Bureau (TTB) focused on prohibited tie-in sales.

What is a Tie-In Sale?

A tie-in sale is a marketing arrangement where a retailer is forced by an industry member to purchase an alcoholic beverage (which the retailer may or may not want) in order to get another alcoholic beverage that the retailer wants. This includes an obligation to take a minimum quantity of a product in standard packaging in order to acquire the same product in some type of premium packaging (for example, a distinctive decanter, wooden box or collectable tin). Additionally, tie-in sales include combination sales in which one or more alcoholic beverages may only be purchased in combination with other products and not individually.

Examples of Prohibited Tie-In Sales*

- A retailer must purchase a certain amount of regular distilled spirits, whether bottled or cased, in order to be allowed to purchase distilled spirits in a special holiday container or packaging.
- A retailer must purchase ten cases of Winery X's Merlot from a wholesaler in order to purchase ten cases of Winery X's Chardonnay.
- A retailer must purchase an industry member's pre-mixed alcohol beverage specialty product (for example, strawberry daiquiri) in order to purchase a certain amount of their regular distilled spirits case goods. In other words, the regular distilled spirits products are not sold separately but only in combination with the specialty product.
- A retailer is required to purchase a two-bottle package containing one each of a winery's Merlot and Chardonnay in order to get the Merlot. The Merlot is not available for purchase separately.
- A retailer must purchase a slow moving wine in order to purchase a distilled spirit that is in heavy demand. The distilled spirit is not available for purchase separately.

What is legal?

It is permissible for an industry member to package alcoholic beverages together, subject to state and federal restrictions, but each alcoholic beverage needs to be available for purchase separately. An industry member may also package and distribute alcoholic beverages in combination with other (non-alcoholic) items for sale to consumers.

Conclusion

Alcoholic beverage industry members are prohibited from "inducing" retailers to purchase their products "to the exclusion" of others' products by requiring the retailer to purchase a certain quota of merchandise. Tie-in sales are a threat to retailer independence and are prohibited within the three-tier alcohol distribution system.
